Put Heads & Hearts Into the Job Starts With New Courage

National War Finance Committee, Bassano unit 36, Salomons Conference and Banquet Held in the 1 O F Hall Bassano Friday 12, April 1945.

The Salomons Conference and Banquet of the Bassano Unit 36, of the National War Finance Committee met in the 1 O F Hall on Friday evening the 12th, of April, to make final arrangements for the 8th Victory Loan which starts on Monday the 23rd instant. A very fine banquet was provided by the ladies of the Service Boys' Club which was thoroughly enjoyed by all present, and a vote of thanks accorded.

Mr Jas R. Donaldson, chairman of the Unit called the meeting to order, and welcomed those present. He stated that he had received word from Mr. L.E. Osborne, the Provincial Chairman that the Quota set for this unit was $160,000.00, an increase of $150,000.00 over the last loan. He then introduced the guest speaker, Sgt. Maguire of the Calgary Highlanders who has recently returned from France. He gave a graphic and interesting picture of the life of the Canadian boys in England while in training, and also a detailed account of their action in the battle for Caen, where he was severely wounded. He praised the work and treatment received from the Red Cross very highly, and also stressed the wonderful aid received by the wounded from the use of the Blood Plasma on the battle field. This is made possible by the Blood Donors of Canada through the Red Cross Blood Donor Clinics. Mr. H. H. Harper gave interesting information and advice to assist in the sale of more bonds in the forthcoming loan. Rev. E. H. Lockhart spoke of the great loss to Canada and the whole world if the passing of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and of his wonderful courage and achievement in overcoming physical handicaps. He expressed the sympathy of the meeting to those of our number who had been bereft of loved ones in the present conflict. Mr. W. R. Whitney gave a brief report on the Provincial Salomons Conference that he attended in Calgary. The Unit Organizer Mr. E. L. Skeritt thanked the salesmen for their splendid job they had done in the last loan, and asked for their continued help and co-operation in the 8th loan. He gave figures that showed what each zone in the unit had done in the Seventh Loan and asked each zone to set its quota of sales for the 8th loan. This was done.

Mr. John Speer of Calgary, District Organizer gave some very interesting figures in connection with past loans. He explained certain points and advised on the best methods of selling bonds. He expressed his confidence in the salesmen of this unit that they would top their quotas. He showed two sets of sales films.

Others present at the meeting: A. McKee, Jas. Johnston, G. Self.

FARMERS look to the FUTURE

Most farmers who were farming during the First World War realize the necessity of saving part of their expanded incomes now instead of putting all their money into high-priced land and expensive wartime equipment. They're putting their savings into good, secure investments like Victory Bonds. These are the farmers who will really have a reserve of money to finance improvement when the war is over and the supply of goods comes back to normal.

What a satisfying feeling it is for a farmer to know that he's got the cash available to finance any major equipment replacement that comes along... or any needed improvement to home, soil or buildings for that matter, and from that purchase of sound investments like Victory Bonds that most farmers are now making with their increased incomes, it looks as if plenty of people are going to feel this way after the war. For farmers, more now than ever before, a penny saved is a penny earned. It is estimated that in 1944 Canadian farmers will have had a total income of one and three-quarter billion dollars. This means the farmers of Canada have a real opportunity to save for the future. Thousands of farmers who experienced the high farm incomes of 1918 and the period of decline that followed have learned their lessons well. They're packing away their savings from today's all-time high farm income, instead of spending it. They'll have this money later when they can use it to best advantage.

Mr. Nelson had gone to the field to bring in the cows for the evening. When he failed to return his wife thought he had gone on to the neighbors. But later became alarmed when she awakened in the morning and found him still absent. She called Constable Allen of Bassano, who found Mr. Nelson only a few feet from the railroad. Dr. Scott said he died of heart failure and no inquest.

Mr. Nelson was an old timer here and will be sadly missed. He was 59 years of age. His wife is his only relative.

HE HAS Sacrificed YOU HAVE Served

● You have reason for just pride if you have done all you could do, on the home front, to support the gallant effort of our men in active service.

If you have denied yourself pleasures and comforts to buy Victory Bonds . . . you, too, have played a part in helping your country's war effort.

You have worked and saved and lent your savings to your country. Without this help from you . . . and from millions of her citizens, your country could not have maintained the prominent place she now occupies among the freedom-loving nations.

Canada has the use of your savings to help to win victory. (You will have this money to use for your own needs later.)

Perhaps you wish you could have done more. Well, you will be asked to do more. Men who have come back will tell you that there is lots to do yet. Canadians are on active service, on the fighting fronts. More money is needed to support their effort.

You are asked to keep on working and saving and you will be asked to put more savings into Victory Bonds. They are the best investment any Canadian can make; an investment that every Canadian should make.

NATIONAL WAR FINANCE COMMITTEE

So you think you're too old to fly? Well, what do you think is the safest age at which to learn, or the safest age after you have learned? The answer is 40 to 45 for beginners, and 60 to 65 for those who have already learned.

Those answers come from the Civil Aeronautics Bureau of the United States government and are based on an investigation of over 4,000 private flying accidents, accidents ranging from brushed wing tips to complete wrecks, though it is interesting to note that in only one out of 50 accidents was there a fatality.

It may take a middle-aged man an extra three or four hours to learn to solo. He might be useless as a fighter pilot, but he's just about twice as safe as a student pilot than the thrill-seeking youngster of 20. And when it comes to steady hour after hour of pleasure flying, a private pilot 50 to 60 years of age can fly eight times as far as the youngster of 20 without an accident.

In fact, the older man can expect to fly 400 years without a fatal accident, and that is based on pre-war figures. There are many reasons why private flying should be safer after the war, with a corresponding increase to many times the 400 years.

When you come to think that there is a fatal accident every year in private motoring for every few hundred motor vehicles on the road, you can see that the safety record of private flying isn't so bad.

According to the figures the age group under 20 is the most dangerous. Those 25 to 30 are more than twice as safe, and 40 to 45 is twice as safe again. While men older than 45 who already know how to fly are even safer, they aren't quite as safe as the 40 to 45 group as beginners.

There is no reason why most of our post-war student pilots should not be men over 40, for they are the men who can best afford to learn flying.

Some of the olderists flying today include Bernard MacFadden, over 70, an active pilot. W. T. Piller learned when 81 and has piled up hundreds of hours since. Now well along in his 69's he was the only pilot to arrive on time for the Elkins, W. Va. airport dedication, a few weeks before he came to Canada to address the Ontario Air Conference in Hamilton.

GROWING SMALL FRUITS

We are pleased and proud to announce the publication of a bulletin entitled "Growing Small Fruits in the Prairie Provinces." It is illustrated with a series of admirable photographs most of which are by courtesy of the Division of Horticulture, Dominion Department of Agriculture.

The subject matter was written by Mr. W. R. Leslie, Superintendent, Dominion Experimental Station, Morden, Manitoba. It deals with recommended varieties, cultural and harvesting methods, pests and diseases of strawberries, raspberries, currants, gooseberries, etc. Tree fruits, such as apples, plums and cherries, are not included; but will, we hope, be the subject of another bulletin to be published in the not too distant future.

Copies are available, free of charge, to farmers, and rural school teachers and pupils in the Prairie Provinces. They may be obtained through local Lins Elevator agents, or from Lins Elevator Farm Service, Winnipeg or Calgary.

A Correction

In our article, "Production Objective," published on February 18th, we endeavored to summarize the figures released by the Dominion Department of Agriculture following the Dominion-Provincial Conference. Under "increase," we quoted "cattle 8 1/2; calves 10 1/2." One of our correspondents points out that these particular figures relate to increased marketing rather than to production. He thinks that "the owners of cattle are generally of the opinion that production has reached a level in the prairie, where dilapidated cattle could arise—if extensive drought should occur."

A.I. Martin, a farmer in New York State is 51 years old and he flies his own Cub, according to Air Facts, a magazine for pilots. In Colorado, Starr Nelson is 77 and learned to fly at 73. Bill Strahler says he knows a chap, 60 in New Jersey who took up flying because he was getting too creaky in the bones for golf.

For that matter, our old friend Major-General F. F. Worthington, who has turned in one of Canada's finest military careers and has just left his post as Commandant at Camp Borden to take over the Pacific army command, learned to fly a year or two ago in England. As commander of a Canadian armoured division he got himself a small English built Miles as a personal plane.

Soon most of the other generals from Eisenhower down were following his example and grabbing off Cub Grashoppers as fast as they could get their hands on them. Of these generals are 50 or over, yet they nearly all fly their own from time to time.

Ottawa Letter

By F. W. Gershaw M. P.

The present Session was called to discuss the San Francisco Conference and to vote supply for a short period to meet Civil Service paymasters and to carry on the war effort.

The whole problem of the Conference was reviewed and a delegation of seven was appointed. The Government has about 175 supporters in a House of 245 and, of the seven delegates, four are from the Government benches and three from the Opposition. All who are going realize the great importance of planning for enduring peace and realize that this involves the removal of the world economic conditions that have caused many wars. Unless unfair economic practices, within a nation, and in the world family of nations are removed, the hope of world peace is remote indeed. Preparing to set up an International organization, to banish forever the horrors of war, is the primary objective but trade relations, money stabilization, rebalancing misbegotten nations, regulation of prices on basic products, improving labour standards and promoting health are other problems that must be solved if peace is to take root and flourish.

Recently two Cabinet Ministers one because Conscription for overseas service was adopted, and one because it was not adopted sooner. During this Session both of these men have sat on the front supporting Mr. King. In every way the Government side promotes Mr. King. In every way the Government side promotes Mr. King.

The voting of money to carry on is in the nature of interim supply. A fraction, i. e. 5 twelfths of the estimated expenditure is being asked for. It is an old-time-honoured custom that before supply is voted by the Commons for His Majesty's Services, any grievance can be explained.

When the new Parliament is elected very single item can again be inquired into because the estimates for the year will need to be voted. Many of the members of the present Parliament will not again seek election and, of course, many others will not be selected, so there will be many new faces in the next House and the sincere hope is that they will have the wisdom to deal wisely with the world problems they must face.

Allow Ammunition To Protect Crops

With the advent of Spring, many thousands of farmers and farmers' sons across Canada will be getting out the "22" rifle in the seasonal hunt for animals and birds likely to damage the crops. Farmers may purchase small arms ammunition to protect their crops or their livestock against predatory animals or birds. First, they are required to take the registration certificate for their firearms to the nearest ration office. Then, they will receive a permit for the purchase of the ammunition and this permit be presented to the retailer from whom the purchase is made.

Rural Magistrate—I'll have to fine ye a dollar, Jeff.
Jeff—I'll have to borrow it off ye, Judge.
Magistrate—Great snaked it was only to get the dollar that I was finin' ye. Git out. Ye ain't gully, anyway.

YOU CAN SAY THAT AGAIN, ED!
